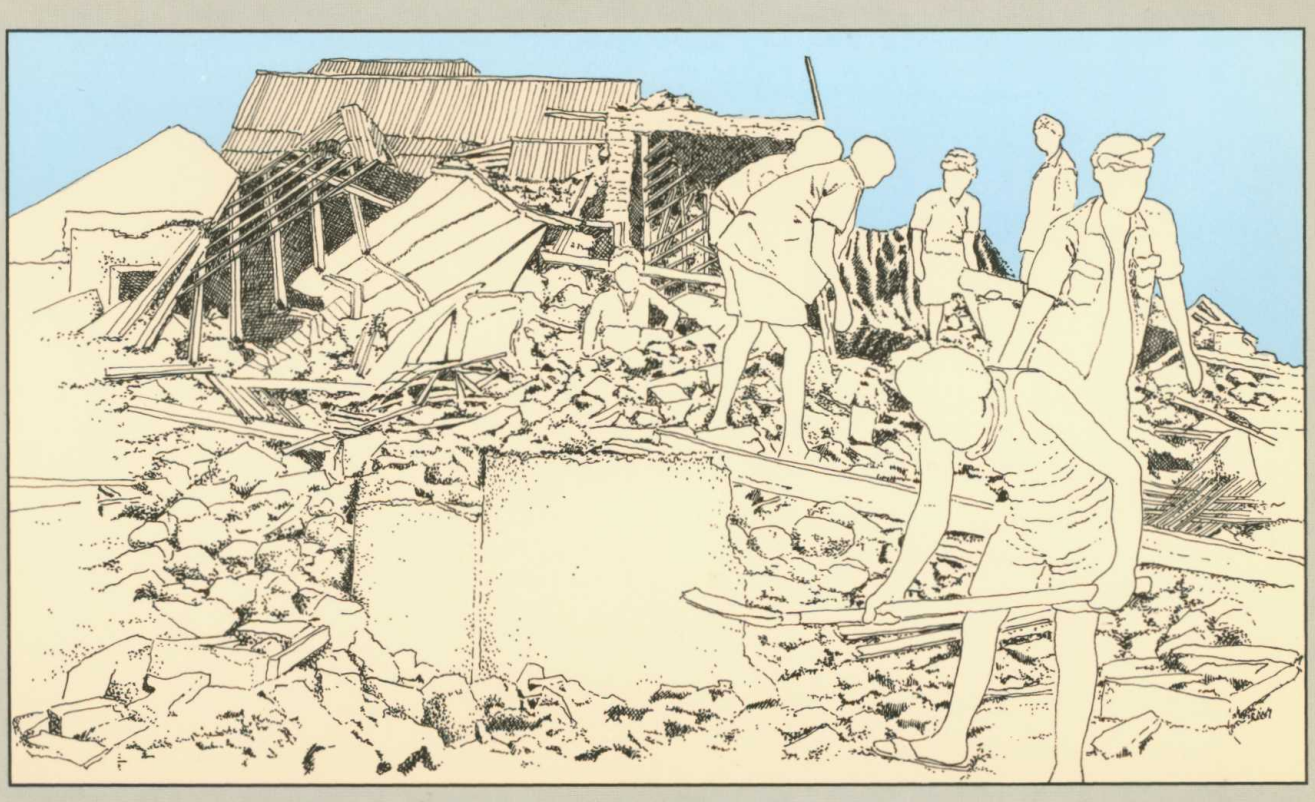
Coping with natural disasters: the role of local health personnel and the community



Published by the World Health Organization in collaboration with the League of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies