

The southern section of the Hayward fault is dominated by middle to upper-middle class housing (Photographs 32 and 33). The house depicted in Photograph 32 is part of a tract development of one-half acre lots.

Housing in the hills east of Alum Rock averages $200,000 in value.(Photograph 34).