

priests and American Indians who originally built it. The architecture and the beauty of the mission have been preserved for future generations through duplication of even the smallest details of the original mission.

FIG. 7

View of East Wall After Rehabilitation