

An aerial photograph showing a vast, flooded landscape. The water is a light, milky yellow color, and numerous small, dark green trees and some small, brown, rectangular structures are scattered throughout the scene, appearing as islands in the water. The overall impression is one of a large-scale environmental disaster or flooding.

For more information, please contact:

Hydrology and Water Resources Department

World Meteorological Organization

7 bis, avenue de la Paix

P.O. Box 2300

CH-1211 Geneva 2, SWITZERLAND

☎: (+41 22) 730 83 55

Fax: (+41 22) 730 80 43

E-mail: dhwr@gateway.wmo.ch

Internet: <http://www.wmo.ch>